

Provincetown TENNESSEE WILLIAMS

Theater Festival

SEPTEMBER 23-26, 2010

All things Tennessee Williams dominate the town of Provincetown this fall for what has become one of the most anticipated events of the season.

During several periods of his life one of America's greatest playwrights called the cape tip town of Provincetown, home. According to Author David Kaplan, the plays Tennessee Williams worked on in Provincetown include The Glass Menagerie, A Streetcar Named Desire, Summer and Smoke, the beginnings of The Night of the Iguana and Suddenly Last Summer. The latter is one of the productions slated for this year's Festival. A reading of the text will be staged by Jodie Markell, director of the recently released film written by Williams, "The Loss of a Teardrop Diamond," Markell's feature film directing debut. Also on tap are staged readings of a number of Williams' works and of course any homage to Williams must include parties, fun and great conversation. Get the full line up at twptown.org.

Director, Jodie Markell

